Democratic Nominee Is Successful in Carrying Thirty-five States--Receives 395 Electoral Votes--Early Election Returns From Eastern States Predict Outcome of Democratic Landslide Later Confirmed When Report of Western States' Vote is Obtained--Illinois Goes to Roosevelt.

PRINCETON, N. J., NOV. 6.—With tears of emotion in his eyes, Governor Wilson stood before the student body of Princeton university as it came cheering and singing to his house to congratulate him on his election. The governor made a brief speech. The students gave the "locomotive" yell of Princeton and sang "Old Nassau." As he sang the chorus of the college his hand uplifted, moving steadily to the characteristic refrain of the song. It was evident that he was deeply moved. Beside him stood Mrs. Wilson and her three daughters, beaming with happiness.

President John C. Hibben of Princeton University was so delighted that a Princeton graduate had captured the presidency that he declared tomorrow a holiday in the university.

The demonstration came as a climax to a rather quiet evening at the Wilson home. It was hard to convince the governor that he was running ahead.

In addressing the students Dr. Wilson said: "Gentlemen I am sincerely glad to see you. I got up on a chair so that you could not see the patch on my head. But when I see this great gathering around me it turns me back to many happy days and I can't help thinking this evening that something has only just begun which you men will have a great part in carrying forward. Therefore, my wish tonight is to say to you what I would say to myself. The lesson of this election is a lesson of responsibility."

"I believe very heartily that a great cause has triumphed, that the American people know what they want and that when they know what they want they have the men and the purpose to obtain it; but that they can't get what they want through the activities of a single man or a single session of congress, or a single group of men. They must get it by a long tedious effort in which this generation will take an important part. I feel like summoning you fellows to do what you have more than generously done by voting for me and believing in me; summon you for the rest of your lives to work to set this government forward by processes of justice, equity and fairness."

"I myself have no feeling of triumph tonight. I have a feeling of solemn responsibility. I know that a great task lies ahead of the men associated with me and ahead of myself. Therefore I look upon you almost with the plea that you, with your thoughts, your best purpose, your purest impulses, will stand behind me and support the generous men of the new administration. I feel, as if I were standing among my younger comrades tonight. I thank you for the inspiration and exhortation that I receive from your support."

Cheer after cheer rang forth when the governor finished speaking and the students crowded forward to shake hands. When the governor went back into the house he found the following telegram from Governor Marshall:

"I salute you, my chieftain, in all love and loyalty."
Governor Wilson replied: "Warmest thanks for your generous telegram. Your part in the strength and stimulation. Now for the deep pleasure of close association in a great work of national service."

setting that Governor Wilson unquestionably was elected, the Democratic candidate sent a message to Mr. McCombs as follows: "I deeply appreciate your telegram and wish to extend to you and the members of the campaign committee, my congratulations to you for the part you have played in organization and plan you have fought."

"A great cause has triumphed, every Democrat, every true Progressive of whatever alliance must lend its full force and enthusiasm to the fulfillment of the people's hope, the establishment of the people's right so that justice and progress may go hand in hand."

This was Governor Wilson's first utterance of a public character following his acceptance of the reports that he had been elected.

Roosevelt Congratulates Wilson. Oyster Bay, N. Y., Nov. 5.—Shortly before midnight Colonel Roosevelt made the following statement:

"The American people by a great plurality have decided to favor Mr. Wilson and the Democratic party. Like all good citizens I accept the result with entire good humor and contentment. As for the Progressive cause I can only repeat what I have already so many times said: the fate of the leader for the time being is of little consequence but the cause itself must in the end triumph for its triumph is essential to the well being of the American people."

At the same time he issued his statement, Colonel Roosevelt sent the following telegram to Governor Wilson:

"The American people by a great plurality have conferred upon you the highest honor in their gift. I congratulate you thereon."

Telegraphs McCombs. Chicago, Nov. 5.—Medill McCormick, who had charge of the Progressive campaign in the west, tonight telegraphed William McCombs chairman of the Democratic national committee as follows:

"Please accept my congratulations. Your indefatigable labor carried on without interruption since the time I first met you during the primary campaign has been rewarded. We look forward to a renewal of the controversy at the earliest possible moment."

Students Celebrate.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 5.—The celebration of victory by Princeton students began at 11 o'clock tonight when the bell in Nassau hall, where the continental congress met, began to toll as a signal of Wilson's victory. Tolling of the bell is an established Princetonian custom when the college is successful in any contest.

Students began to gather with hand instruments, pennants and torches and formed a parade that passed down through Bayard Lane, past the Grover Cleveland house to Governor Wilson's residence.

Friends who were with the governor while the returns were coming in found difficulty in getting him to concede that he had won. Dudley S. Malone, son-in-law of Senator O'Gorman of New York came out of the room where the returns were being read and said: "The Governor refuses to be elected."

His message to Chairman McCombs was his first statement admitting that all doubt of his election had passed.

Receives Returns at Home.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 5.—Governor Wilson sat tonight with a party of friends around a brilliantly illuminated dinner table as the election's returns began to come in, earlier than was anticipated. The first results the governor got were favorable and his comment was "that's very encouraging." The returns that continued to come in from Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York all favored Governor Wilson and the party about the dinner table showed its pleasure.

Captain "Bill" McDonald, the Texas ranger who is the governor's body guard, read a stack of returns and felt so happy that he exclaimed: "I wonder if I'd get arrested if I shot off my guns; if it keeps up this way I'll have to just turn 'em loose."

Captain McDonald is a close friend of Colonel Roosevelt but differs with him politically.

The governor was not over-confident. When shown the returns from New York city he smiled.

"I'm supposed to carry the city by 3 to 1 in order to win the state," he said, as he continued his dinner leisurely.

Bryan Sends Congratulations. Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 5.—William Jennings Bryan tonight sent Governor Wilson this telegram:

"I most heartily congratulate you and the country upon your election, your splendid campaign has borne fruit in a great victory. I am sure your administration will prove a blessing to the nation and a source of strength to our party."

What Marshall Says.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 5.—Gov. Thomas R. Marshall, Democratic candidate for vice president, when assured of the success of the national ticket, said:

"The Democratic victory of today will result in a restoration of representative government in America. If Democratic officials, both state and national, shall constantly remember that executive duty consists in the enforcement of the law and in the insistence upon legislative compliance with Democratic platforms and principles. If legislative representatives will remember that they are to represent the people and not any interest whatever and will be zealous to formulate into legislation the principles either enunciated in Democratic platforms or growing out of the basic principles of Jeffersonian platforms or growing out of the lives will give us the perfection of law; and if judicial representatives will give us the perfection of reason in the light of today and not in the light of two centuries ago, and shall be content to construe and not to make, statutory law."

Complete Congressional Results Will Probably Not Be Known Until Thursday--Democratic House is Assumed and Democratic Senate is Probable.

Returns at 1:30 a. m. made more certain the earlier indications that the Democrats would increase their contingent in the house of representatives. At that hour returns showed that by the re-apportionment and by defeat of opponents in normally Republican districts there was a gain of 24 Democrats over the number accredited in the 62nd congress is a loss of one.

The gain was as follows: Five in New Jersey, two in Texas, one in Louisiana, one in Florida, one in Georgia, four in Connecticut, one in Alabama, one in Iowa and eight in New York. In Wisconsin two were elected nominally on a Democratic ticket, from Republican districts, though they actually were named by a fusion following. A number of the Republican representatives returned were given the Progressive endorsement.

WASHINGTON, NOV. 5.—Election returns were received in Washington tonight with demonstrations which many old observers said had not been equalled since the civil war. One great crowd packed Broad Pennsylvania avenue from Peace Monument to the treasury. It was said that no greater gathering had witnessed an inauguration. Interest in the presidential contest ran high as did that on the completion of the next congress, which was not apparent up to midnight. The elated Wilson supporters claimed that his victory would insure a Democratic senate. It was generally conceded that the

FIRST CONFESSION FORCED. Crown Point, Ind., Nov. 5.—Harry G. Moore, formerly city clerk of Gary, Ind., who is held here on a charge of perjury, today said his first confession was obtained under duress and made a new statement of his case which was forwarded to Governor Marshall. His mother is said to have induced him to make his new confession. Moore's previous testimony helped free Mayor Knotts and several aldermen when tried for alleged bribery.

PRESIDENT TAFT ISSUES STATEMENT

EXPRESSES HOPE THAT CHAGE CAN BE MADE WITHOUT HALTING PROSPERITY

Sends Message of Congratulation to Woodrow Wilson and Note of Thanks to Chairman Hilles.

CINCINNATI, OHIO, NOV. 5.—President Taft at 11 o'clock tonight conceded the election of Governor Wilson. He issued the following statement:

"The returns insure the election of Governor Wilson to the presidency. This means an early change in the economic policy of the government in reference to the tariff. If this change can be made without halting prosperity, I sincerely hope it may be."

"The vote for Mr. Roosevelt, the third party candidate, and for Mr. Debs, the Socialist candidate, is a warning that their propaganda in favor of fundamental changes in our constitutional representative government has formidable support."

"While the experiment of a change in the tariff is being carried out by the Democratic administration, it behooves Republicans to gather again to their party standard and pledge anew their faith in that party's principles and to organize again to defend the constitutional government handed down to us by our fathers. We must make clear to the young men of the country who have been weaned away from sound principles of government by promise of reforms, impossible of accomplishment by mere legislation, that patriotism and common sense require them to return to a support of our constitution. Without compromise and win back former Republican and we must reinforce our ranks with constitution-loving Democrats."

NEW YORK

NEW YORK, NOV. 5.—Woodrow Wilson was the choice of the state of New York for president by a plurality estimated at midnight at about 200,000 from returns received from nearly every election district in the greater city of New York and from all but 500 of the 3,993 districts outside of New York city. President Taft led Colonel Roosevelt in the same districts by about 35,000 votes.

Congressman William Sulzer was elected governor with a plurality estimated at midnight at about 175,000 over J. E. Hedges, the Republican nominee, who in turn led Oscar Straus, candidate of the Progressive party, by about 15,000 votes.

William Barnes Jr., chairman of the Republican state committee, issued the following statement: "The result of the election in the state of New York demonstrates one thing, that the Roosevelt movement was simply a Republican bolt."

"With all of the frantic efforts that were made to secure votes from people generally, the result shows that practically none but former Republicans, joined the Roosevelt movement."

"The decisive victory of Taft and Hedges over Roosevelt and Straus is a demonstration that the Republicans of New York desired the re-nomination of President Taft and that the delegates from this state properly expressed the preference of the Republicans when a large majority voted for Taft at Chicago."

New York, Nov. 5.—Rhode Island also became a doubtful state on the returns near midnight and based on the latest votes reported, it seems not wholly improbable that its five votes would go to Wilson. The early returns gave an apparent victory to Taft in New Hampshire in Vermont, but the Taft pluralities dwindled as midnight approached to a very few hundred votes in each state, and seemed likely to be wiped out entirely.

The vote in Utah was reflected in the despatches up to midnight give indications that that state might be carried for Taft. The vote in Pennsylvania was amazingly close, the returns from over a thousand precincts embracing over 185,000 votes, giving each of the three leading presidential candidates more than 60,000 votes.

President Taft's lead in Philadelphia districts was offset by the heavy vote polled by Roosevelt and Wilson in other parts of the state. Many surprises were shown in the returns. The New York state assembly seemed to be overwhelmingly Democratic. In Illinois indications were that Judge Dunne, the Democratic candidate for governor had been elected. Former Speaker Cannon seemed to have been defeated for congress in Illinois.

In addition to Roosevelt's certain victory in Illinois, the confident claims of the Roosevelt manager that Iowa, Michigan and Kansas would fall into the Roosevelt column seemed verified by the partially complete returns at an early hour this morning. The returns from California regarding Vermont was settled by the announcement of the complete vote which gave Mr. Taft a majority of 924 votes.

At 12:45 the Providence, R. I. (Journal) conceded that state to Wilson and with the vote close in New Hampshire it seemed probable that New England, with the exception of Vermont had gone Democratic.

Early Returns Predict Result.

New York, Nov. 5.—Early returns from New York and the surrounding states were the cause of much exultation at Democratic national headquarters. Chairman McCombs soon after 7 p. m. sent word to Governor Wilson that his election was indicated by an overwhelming vote. Later in the evening he made the following statement:

"Victory now is complete. The returns are coming in so fast that I can not keep up with them. Governor Wilson has carried Massachusetts, Maine, Connecticut, New York, Maryland, New Jersey and the 'Solid South.' National Committee Chairman King wires that Wilson will get 10,000 plurality in Oregon. I believe we will carry Pennsylvania for Wilson."

"I have reports which are sufficient to elect Governor Wilson and overwhelmingly without a return from the western states which are not in."

With Chairman McCombs were Vice Chairman William G. McAdoo and United States Senator O'Gorman who were plainly elated over the returns.

NEW YORK, NOV. 5.—With the election of Woodrow Wilson to the presidency and Thomas R. Marshall to the vice presidency assured by the earlier returns tonight, the reports up to midnight gave indications that the electoral vote of the Democratic candidate would pass the 300 mark. The size of the popular majority given the Democratic national ticket for the states outside of Illinois that might give electoral votes to either Taft or Roosevelt were matters of conjecture at midnight. It was certain, however, that Illinois would give an overwhelming majority to Roosevelt, while the race in Pennsylvania was so close as to bring all three candidates within range of success.

Early returns gave Governor Wilson and Governor Marshall the "solid south" and the states of Connecticut, Delaware, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, West Virginia, Indiana and Missouri. As the night advanced and returns from the west began

complete congressional results could not be known until tomorrow. Among the first returns checked in Washington was the word from Missouri that Speaker Champ Clark had been re-elected. He will undoubtedly preside over the house in the next congress unless induced to enter the next cabinet. But Champ's ancient and honorable foe, "Uncle Joe" Cannon, after thirty-eight years in the house, was defeated, according to early reports, by Frank T. O'Hara in the Iron Bound Danville, Ill., district.

With the assurance that the Democratic candidates for the house throughout the "solid south" had been elected, the election of Oscar W. Underwood, chairman of the house ways and means committee, and father of the measures that made up the greater part of the work of the present Democratic house, was made certain.

The only Socialist in the present house, Victor L. Berger, of Wisconsin, was defeated for re-election by Representative William H. Stafford, a Republican, re-nominated on a Fusion ticket with the Democrats supporting him. Down to defeat with Uncle Joe Cannon, went Ebenezer Hill, in the fourth Connecticut district. Representative Hill, for eighteen years has been one of the Republican tariff experts in the house and a member of the ways and means committee. Solid Democratic delegations from Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Florida, Louisiana, Mississippi and the Carolinas were indicated by the increased representation of the south under the new apportionment. The senate has sixty holdover senators, of which thirty are Republicans and thirty Democrats.

Of the thirty-six other members six have been chosen, leaving thirty places to be filled. Of the six so far elected, five are Democrats, Bankhead of Alabama, Martin of Virginia, Yardman of Mississippi, James of Kentucky and Ransdall of Louisiana, and one is a Republican, Fall of New Mexico. The states from which the remaining thirty must be chosen are Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Nevada, Oklahoma, Oregon, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, West Virginia and Wyoming. Of these states Colorado, Idaho and Illinois will choose two senators each and the other states one.

As the senate is composed of 95 members it will be necessary for the Democrats to elect 13 out of the 30 in order to obtain a majority and for the Republicans to elect 18 to procure that advantage. Of the 27 states from which the new Senators must be chosen, seven, Georgia, Maine, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and West Virginia are now represented by Democrats and the remaining twenty by Republicans. The returns up to 1 a. m. gave little basis on which to estimate the strength of the parties in the next senate. Much interest attached to the report that Senator Simmons probably had won a re-nomination in the North Carolina primary today. Next to Senator Bailey of Texas, he is the senior Democrat member of the committee on finance.

Returns in the election of members of the United States house of representatives were slow and there was little on which to base a conclusion as to the proportionate political complexion of the Sixty-third congress. Indications were that the Democrats probably would maintain their present majority in the house with possible gains as forecast in early reports to political headquarters.

In New York the Democrats lost the twenty-sixth district, but this was offset by the victory in the fortieth.

The "solid south" returned its regular delegation of Democratic congressmen.

RETURNS ASSURE

to come in these earlier estimates were confirmed and Montana, New Jersey and New Mexico were added to those which seemed certain to the Democratic candidate while scattered returns from San Francisco and Los Angeles made it probable that California might join the Wilson and Marshall column.

ADD LEAD ELECTION
But little definite news from states on the Pacific coast was received during the early hours of the morning, except from California, where a Wilson victory was indicated.

The tabulation of votes in the other western states was so slow as to make predictions impossible as to where their electoral votes would go.

As additional districts were reported from Pennsylvania indications that Roosevelt would carry the state grew stronger. It also seemed probable that Roosevelt had carried South Dakota. Early returns pointed to a reversal of the first reports from Iowa. Wilson probably carried the state. At 4 a. m. Taft and Wilson were separated by only 311 votes in New Hampshire. With Taft leading, Idaho and Wyoming were still in doubt.

ILLINOIS
Chicago, Nov. 6.—Deneen went in to second place again early today with the reporting of additional Cook county votes. 1843 precincts out of 4,286 gave Deneen, 197,494; Chicago, 126,785; Funk, 126,276.

Deneen, Nov. 6.—Col. Roosevelt and Judge Deneen, according to returns received up to 1 o'clock, apparently have carried the state.

According to figures at hand at that hour, it was only the colonel's strong race in Cook county that carried him through. There in 1908 out of 1498 precincts he led Governor Wilson by 16,661. Late returns from down-state showed that in 692 out of 2788 precincts outside Cook county, Wilson was 14 votes in the lead. President Taft ran third both in Cook county and down state. Judge Deneen apparently will go in to office with a large plurality.

One hundred and twenty-one precincts out of 4221 in the state gave Deneen, 142,734; Funk, Progressive, 89,577; Deneen, Republican, 87,961.

Only meager returns have been received on candidates for other state offices, but the Democratic candidates for the minor state offices all were leading. Shortly before midnight, E. F. Lezure, son-in-law of former Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, conceded his defeat by O'Hara, the Democratic candidate in the 18th district.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 5.—McLean county complete gives Taft 4,844; Wilson 5,637; Roosevelt 4,508.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—David W. Mulvane, director of the Republican campaign in the west, shortly after 10 o'clock tonight declined to make a statement on the results of the presidential contest. He said that he would wait until midnight before conceding President Taft's defeat. Also he declined to comment upon the returns from Illinois.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Present indications are that Campbell and Clark, Republican and Wertz, Democrat, are elected to the legislature from the thirty-third senatorial district.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Despatches from Bloomington gave McLean county to Funk by 500; at 10 p. m. to Deneen by 150, and at midnight to Deneen by 525.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—At midnight Wilson carried a lead of 14 votes over Roosevelt in 692 of the 2788 downstate precincts. The vote stood Wilson 63,857; Roosevelt 63,843; Taft 42,297.

In Cook county Roosevelt still carried a lead of about 15,000; 978 precincts out of 1498 gave Roosevelt 103,650; Wilson 88,358 Taft 50,478.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Late returns which included many from Democratic counties in the southern part of the state took away the Roosevelt plurality of the early returns and gave Wilson a slight lead. His total on 692 precincts heard from being 14 more than Roosevelt.

Returns on 692 precincts outside Cook county gave Taft 42,297; Wilson 63,857; Roosevelt 63,843.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—The returns from the thirty-ninth senatorial district give the following:
Lee O'Neil Browne, Dem., 15,000; W. H. Scanlan, Rep., 14,000; O. E. Benson, Rep., 13,000.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—1134 precincts out of 1498 in Cook county give the following results on state offices:
Lieutenant-governor—O'Hara, 12,350; Oglesby, Rep., 7,247; Franklin, Prog., 7,085.

Secretary of state—Woods, Dem., 12,404; Doyle, Rep., 7,089; Peterson, Prog., 7,069.

Treasurer—Ryan, Dem., 12,163; Russell, Rep., 7,524; Decker, Prog., 7,042.

Auditor—Brady, Dem., 12,312; Winter, Prog., 7,131; McCullough, R., 7,121.

Danville, Ill., Nov. 5.—At midnight E. X. Lezure, son-in-law of Ex-Speaker Cannon, conceded O'Hara's election.

Meager returns indicate the defeat of Ex-Speaker Cannon by Frank T. O'Hara of Paris by about 1,200 plurality in the eighteenth district.

Six precincts in Vermillion county normally heavily Republican gave Cannon 417 O'Hara 374, indicating that the latter is holding his own in Cannon's home county where he expected to get a heavy enough vote to offset the southern counties conceded to O'Hara who claims Cumberland, Clark, Edwards and Irons counties will give him a plurality of 2,000 and conceding Vermillion and Kankakee to Cannon with a plurality of 800.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Wilson appeared early this morning to have a leading chance of carrying Illinois. With only 1070 of the 2,788 downstate precincts in, the vote for those districts stood: Wilson, 193,440; Roosevelt, 127,671; Taft, 65,759.

In Cook county 1188 out of a total of 1498 precincts gave Roosevelt 123,004; Wilson, 104,909, and Taft, 59,805. This made Roosevelt's lead in the state so far 7,700 over Wilson.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Counting of the votes for candidates on the Illinois state ticket for offices below governor was barely touched during the night, but meager reports received indicated that the Democratic candidates for other state offices probably would be elected with Deneen governor. The Democrats also apparently elected all officers in Chicago and Cook county.

Iowa
Cedar Rapids, Ia., Nov. 5.—Thirty-four precincts in Lynn county give Wilson 4653; Taft 3855; Roosevelt 2691.

The between Congressman Good, Rep., and S. C. Huber, Dem., is close, but Good probably will win by 1,000 majority.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 5.—559 precincts outside Polk county gives Taft 31,246; Wilson 48,543; Roosevelt 47,561.

The same precincts in 1908 gave Taft 34,250; Bryan 54,749. Wilson on this basis should carry the state by about 3900.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 6.—Figures from about one-fourth of the precincts in the state early today reversed the situation in reference to the presidential ticket and put Wilson ahead of Roosevelt by a plurality of from four to six thousands if the present ratio is continued. Early returns had given Roosevelt a lead of nearly 25,000, estimated. These figures were based on reports from the northern part of the state which had been conceded to the Roosevelt stronghold. The reports from southern counties however, changed the situation. Only three counties had reported totals at 2 a. m.

Burlington, Ia., Nov. 5.—Returns from the first Iowa district indicate the re-election of Kennedy, Republican for congress.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 5.—With considerable less than one-fourth of the total precincts in the state heard from shortly before midnight Roosevelt appeared to be leading Wilson by 24,000 to 26,000. Later returns had a tendency to cut this figure but if the present ratio is kept up, the colonel should have a plurality of more than 20,000. Late reports indicated that George W. Clarke, Republican candidate for governor had defeated his Democratic opponent, Deneen, but definite returns were unavailable.

Burlington, Ia., Nov. 5.—City of Burlington complete gives Wilson 2,251; Taft 1,334; Roosevelt 1,388. Governor Dune, Democrat 2,229; Clarke, Republican, 1,674; Stevens, Progressive, 1,064.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 5.—131 Iowa precincts outside of Polk county give Taft 6,922; Wilson 9,315; Roosevelt 11,920. The same precincts in 1908 gave Taft 18,890, Bryan 11,274.

559 precincts outside of Polk county (Des Moines) gave Taft 31,246; Wilson 48,543; Roosevelt 47,561. Same precincts in 1908 gave Taft 34,250; Bryan 54,749. Wilson on this basis should carry the state by about 3,900.

Sioux City, Ia., Nov. 6.—With three precincts missing Roosevelt's vote in Sioux City was 3,017, Wilson 2,586, Taft 1,258.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 6.—Six hundred and sixty-five precincts outside of Polk county give Taft, 36,422; Wilson, 56,040; Roosevelt, 53,955. On this basis Wilson's plurality in Iowa is 6,800.

Arkansas
Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 6.—Scattering returns received up to 1 o'clock this morning show Wilson leading in Arkansas by the ratio of 3 to 2 over the combined of all other candidates. Roosevelt has a slight lead over Taft by virtue of a large Progressive vote in Little Rock. Definite results are not available owing to the slowness of the count.

Indiana
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 5.—Indiana apparently went overwhelmingly Democratic.

Governor Wilson on the base of the returns from 517 precincts out of the 1,172 precincts in the state, had almost as many votes as Taft and Roosevelt combined. Wilson was leading Taft by more than 2 to 1.

Governor Samuel M. Ralston, Democrat, led over Beveridge, Progressive and Winfield T. Durbin, Republican.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 5.—Indiana decided in favor of Governor Wilson today and for the first time in 20 years the electoral vote of the state will be cast for a Democrat. The Progressive party made a good showing in the state.

With practically half of the precincts of the state heard from, Samuel M. Ralston, Democrat candidate for governor will have a plurality of about 10,000.

1551 precincts out of 3172 in Indiana gave Taft 79,987; Wilson 151,927; Roosevelt 86,077.

North Dakota
Grand Forks, N. D., Nov. 5.—With the returns at hand at 10 o'clock tonight, the indications are that Woodrow Wilson has carried North Dakota, but by what majority it is at this time impossible to estimate.

Taft and Roosevelt are running close together but are far behind the Democratic candidate. At this hour the indications are that the Republican state ticket headed by Congressman L. B. Hanson for governor has won the election by a safe majority.

Returns are coming in slowly but those already received are from every part of the state.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 6.—With fully half the precincts missing and many counties yet to hear from the returns from South Dakota, at 1 a. m. indicated that Colonel Roosevelt has carried the state by 5,000 and that Frank M. Byrne has been elected governor.

Oregon
Portland, Ore., Nov. 6.—Governor Wilson appears to have carried Oregon.

Portland, Oregon, Nov. 5.—Scattering returns from the state and incomplete returns from Multnomah county (Portland) indicate that Wilson has carried Oregon by a safe plurality with Roosevelt second.

Colorado
Denver, Colo., Nov. 6.—Incomplete returns from 45 of the 62 counties of the state received up to 2 a. m., lowered Wilson's percentage slightly, but was not sufficient to change the estimated plurality of 40,000 for the national Democratic ticket. Indications are that the entire state Democratic ticket would be elected.

Denver, Nov. 5.—Returns received up to 10:45 tonight from 378 precincts in thirty counties, including 174 in Denver, indicated that Wilson has carried the state by a substantial plurality. Figures on an estimated total vote of 270,000 in the state, Colorado should give Wilson a plurality of about 40,000.

Tennessee
Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 6.—Campaign managers for Governor Hooper, Republican, early today claim his re-election by 5,000 majority. Democratic managers on the other hand assert that the Democratic ticket has won. Wilson's majority is large.

West Virginia
Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Wilson has carried the state over Roosevelt by 39,000 or more with Taft a close second to Roosevelt. Dr. H. D. Hatfield, Republican for governor, is elected from 10,000 to 20,000, while a state-wide Prohibition amendment has carried by a majority of 20,000 or more.

New Jersey
Newark, N. J., Nov. 5.—New Jersey has given Wilson a plurality estimated at 35,000 to 45,000 over Roosevelt. Returns at midnight showed Taft third. His vote was less than half of Wilson's.

The heaviest vote ever cast in the state and a long ballot delayed the count. A Democrat will succeed Governor Wilson as governor of New Jersey. Democrats elected four of six state senators, thereby displacing a Republican majority of one with a similar Democratic majority.

Vermont
White River Junction, Vt., Nov. 5.—President Taft was the winner in Vermont today by a plurality of 924 over Col. Roosevelt. Mr. Taft received a total of 23,247 votes; Col. Roosevelt 22,323 and Governor Wilson 15,397.

California
San Francisco, Nov. 5.—J. O. Davis chairman of the Democratic state central committee wired the "Democratic national committee" at 9 p. m., that Wilson had carried California by a majority of 20,000 over Roosevelt.

Wilson apparently has carried California. Returns from 1,520 state precincts out of 4,372 give Taft 90,355; Roosevelt 85,258; Wilson 662; Lebs 11,020. This ratio would give Wilson a plurality of about 15,000.

San Francisco, Nov. 5.—Returns from 1502 out of 4372 precincts in the state show the following: Wilson 90,355, Roosevelt, 85,258, Taft, 662, Lebs, 11,026, Chafin 1,099.

Maine
Portland, Maine, Nov. 5.—Returns from about four-fifths of the state indicated that for the first time since the civil war the Democratic ticket for the electors had been successful. With 400 out of 521 places in the state reported the vote stood: Roosevelt 43,267; Taft 25,008; Wilson 48,036. The same places four years ago gave Col. Bryan 33,488 and Taft 61,101, a plurality of 27,713. If the same ratio held throughout it was estimated that the plurality of Wilson would be 4,155. President Taft's plurality in 1908 was 31,584.

Washington
Seattle, Wash., Nov. 5.—Roosevelt has carried Washington by approximately 30,000 plurality over Wilson. One hundred and twenty-six precincts out of 1903 in the state gave Roosevelt 10,143; Wilson 6,059. For governor, fifty-five precincts give Lister, Dem

A Watch Given With Each Suit

T. M. TOMLINSON

Makes Hard Work Easy!

DUSTING, cleaning and polishing hardwood floors is hard, back-breaking work. An almost never ending task and seldom satisfactory the old way. But it is easy, quick and satisfactory the new way—using the O-Cedar Polish Mop. With it you can spend a few minutes doing what it now takes you almost half a day. You simply pass the O-Cedar Polish Mop over the floor and every particle of dust and dirt is taken up and held. The floor is given a hard, durable, lasting polish and finish.

O-Cedar Polish Mop

Is also used for the dusting and cleaning of the tops of high furniture, between the balusters of the stairs and is so made that you can get to the far corner under the bed, beneath the radiator and other hard-to-get places.

It cuts house work in half. Don't put up with the old-fashioned hard way when you can get an O-Cedar Polish Mop for only $1.50.

Satisfaction Guaranteed or Money Refunded

Try an O-Cedar Polish Mop for two days at our risk. Test it every way for two days and if you are not delighted with it we will promptly return your money.

I hope to merit your support for the election of Circuit Clerk of this county at Tuesday's election.

MATRIMONIAL

JACKSON-SARGENT.
The marriage of William T. Jackson and Miss Agnes J. Sargent, both of this city, was celebrated at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Sargent, at 227 West College street Tuesday afternoon. The wedding was a quiet one with only immediate relatives of the parties being in attendance. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. W. Miller, pastor of Grace Methodist church. The bride was born near Franklin, where she has resided the greater portion of her life. For some years she has been a member of the clerical force at the Montgomery & Deppie drygoods emporium and she has by her amiable and pleasing manner made a host of friends who will miss her from her former position in the store.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Jackson residing at 1353 South East street. He was born in this city where he grew to manhood. For some time he was employed in the business house of Decker & Salby and upon their removal to Chicago he continued with the firm. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will go at once to Chicago to take up their residence.

You will find flannel shirts to please you at Garland & Co.

MAY LOCATE HERE.

W. D. Swales of Macomb was in the city Tuesday for the H. D. Wells Shoe company of Chicago. He was accompanied by his wife and they are thinking of locating in Jacksonville.

from injustice. But we know that all progress is worth making, is possible with our present form of government and that to sacrifice that which is of the highest value in our governmental structure for undefined and impossible reforms is the wildest folly. We must face the danger with a clear knowledge of what it is.

The Republican party is equal to the task. It has had no nobler cause, let us close ranks and march forward to do battle for the right and the true.

President Taft tonight sent telegrams to Governor Wilson and Chairman Hilges of the Republican national committee. Here are the messages:

"Hon. Mr. Woodrow Wilson, Princeton, N. J.
"I cordially congratulate you on your election and extend to you my best wishes for a successful administration."
(Signature) "Wm. Howard Taft."

"Hon. Charles D. Hilges, New York.
"You have conducted a most difficult campaign in the face of unusual obstacles. I congratulate you heartily on the fight you have made, and I am deeply grateful to you for it."
(Signature) "Wm. Howard Taft."

Mrs. Emma Malar, 627 N. 7th St., Springfield, Ill., says her kidney trouble resulted from an operation: "From then until I used Foley Kidney Pills I did not know what a well day was. Then my backache left me, that tired dragged down feeling was gone, I slept soundly and awoke refreshed. I had no more headache or dizzy spells." Safe and sure. Try them. City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

Twinges of rheumatism, backache, stiff joints and shooting pains all show your kidneys are not working right. Urinary irregularities, loss of sleep, nervousness, weak back and sore kidneys tell the need of a good reliable kidney medicine. Foley Kidney Pills are tonic, strengthening and restorative. They build up the kidneys and regulate their action. They will give you quick relief and contain no habit forming drugs. City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer.

J. H. S. TO PLAY KEOKUK SCHOOL

GAME WILL TAKE PLACE ON ILLINOIS FIELD SATURDAY.

Local Institution Expects to Come Back Hard Against Iowa School—Illinois College Meets Gem City Business College in Quincy—Other Sport Notes.

Although badly battered on account of the recent game with the Champaign high school, the Jacksonville high school football men are again getting on their feet and expect to be in good shape for the contest against the Keokuk high on Illinois college field next Saturday. Keokuk is almost an unknown quantity here, as far as their playing is concerned this year. They have a good team, however, and a bull dog tenacity that goes a long way toward winning a victory and never give up until the whistle blows on the last quarter.

Captain Stewart, Reeve and Jackson, who were severely hurt in the game Saturday and if they are not able to go the entire four quarters, Coach Buland expects to fill the gap with his subs. The squad expects to come back hard against the Iowa school and bring back part of the big loss suffered in the eastern town.

Illinois vs. Gem City.

Two old foes will meet Saturday afternoon in Quincy when Illinois college football team lines up against the Gem City Business college bunch. The Quincy school is a large one and they have a broad field from which to draw competent men. The school has ever been a rival of the local institution and it is safe to predict that there will be a lively scrap for honors. The playing of the two teams recalls the episode, which happened several years ago on the old baseball field when Quincy came here for a game. Illinois had an unusually heavy team that year, with such men as "Babe" Nelson, Kirby of Petersburg and other men of big build. Nelson had been shifted back of the line, and in the first part of the game he was pushed through the Gem line at will. Quincy found a pretext in one of the plays to throw up the sponge and the contest had not been on more than eight minutes before the visitors left the field. But that was "in ye olden times."

Last Saturday the Gems went down to St. Louis where they had a game scheduled with Christian Brothers college. The train was late and only fourteen minutes were played before the game had to be called on account of darkness. But they were fatal minutes for Quincy, for in that time C. B. C. had piled up 34 points against the Illinois town.

Expect Hard Game.
The Springfield high school is expected to have a hard game next Saturday with the high school of Taylorville, an old enemy. Springfield high has never won a game from Taylorville and the Sangamon county lads are planning to clean up in the next contest. It is planned to choose a referee and umpire from each of the two towns to boss the job. The S. H. S. students will hold a big parade preceding the game.

Lucas to Be Reinstated.
Scott W. Lucas is to be reinstated as an eligible member of the athletic world of Wesleyan university. He has been out for some time and his absence has been a source of much regret to the Wesleyans. He will try for a position behind the line and it is expected that he will give some of the men in the backfield a good race for their positions. Captain Heffernan, who has been out through injury, is again in the game and expects to take part in the contest against Williams and Vashit next Saturday at Alton.

May Manage Decatur.
It has been rumored that Shortstop Bill Gorman will probably manage the Decatur team of the Three-I league next year. Gorman has not been a popular man on the Decatur squad, but possesses good ability as a manager.

Springfield Manager.
Springfield has also been on the lookout for a "boss" and Len Schroeder, who is favorably known to local bugs, is slated for the place. He played first base on the team and is quite popular with the players.

Rock Island's Manager.
The Decatur Review in speaking of Tighe and Rock Island says: "Jack Tighe is back in Rock Island and is trying to stir up baseball interest in the river town again. In case any of the present Rock Island players show signs of weakness, Rock Island with Tighe at the helm, will ask for admittance. Tighe won a pennant for the Islanders in 1909 and the team finished second in 1910. He then went to Seattle as manager in 1911 and was engaged to manage Louisville this season. He resigned in the middle of the season."

AREZVILLE WET.

Local Option Defeated by a Vote of Twenty-three.

In the local option fight waged at Arezville the "wets" won by twenty-three votes. It was a fight in the real sense of the word, both sides claiming victory all through the day. Every vote possible was gotten out and interest ran high throughout the contest. The local option forces had thoroughly organized, which accounted for the showing they made.

Mr. Hiram Steele, 628 N. 6th St., Terre Haute, Ind., writes: "I came down with a severe case of kidney trouble. I had to get up too often at night, there was pain and much sediment, puffs under my eyes, back ached terribly, and I was dizzy. Foley Kidney Pills cured me quickly, and I feel 100 per cent better. City Drug Store, J. A. Obermeyer."

CRACKERS BEND.

The biggest and most sociable time of the season occurred last Friday at the pleasant residence of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Kennedy. Mrs. Kennedy employed the Ladies' Aid of the Bend to sew carpet rags and tack a comforter. They turned out in force, some from the Concord aid and a few that did not belong to any aid, but were good workers. We will put the Grace chapel aid against any set of women in the state for good and fast work. You can imagine how the rags flew when twenty or more industrious women, anxious to do a neighbor a fair day's work, pitched into a rag pile the size of a load of hay. There was no confusion, needles and thimbles were sparkling and great balls of bright colored rags were continually forming. They were encouraged and cheered on the greatest possible speed when Miss Alice Valley, an accomplished performer on the piano, played quick music on Miss Bertha Kennedy's new rosewood piano. We want to say right here that Miss Bertha has the sweetest toned piano ever brought into the Bend. The sweet music was not the only incentive for the ladies to do their best; every time a door was opened the odor of roasting chicken and pumpkin pie and every thing else good to eat pervaded the room and the needles seemed to flash faster and more deftly than ever. Dinner was announced at 12:30 and we filed into the dining room. Perhaps you wonder when we say we, but its all right for we and Mr. Othie Holt had the exquisite pleasure of being invited to this occasion and we have been thanking our lucky stars ever since. When we reached the dining room, lo, what a sight for a hungry man or woman. Some writers would say the table groaned with its load, but there was no groaning about this table. Nevertheless it was one of the most stupendous dinners ever set in the Bend. It seemed to us that the platters and dishes were larger than common and they were all filled to overflowing and the cooking done to a turn. Mrs. John Stanley assisted Mrs. Kennedy in preparing this dinner and they in turn were assisted by Misses Bertha Kennedy and Bertha Stanley. With all the inducements of the good dinner and all the fine music Miss Alice furnished, the ladies were compelled to leave the job unfinished, but they are going back Wednesday afternoon to finish up, and we will finish up also by saying as we did at the first, that this was the biggest, most successful and sociable affair of the season in the Bend.

Mrs. McCarty received a letter from Dr. Schaefer of Beardstown stating that he brother, Sam Goodpasture, who was overcome by gas at the Goodel hotel in that city ten days ago, was so far recovered as to be able to return to his home in Concord Saturday morning. Sam's many friends will be glad to hear that he is improving so well.

The people on Route 4 have been very lonesome for the last two weeks on account of the absence of our carrier, Joseph L. Whitaker, who has been away on his vacation. We have had a perfect service by his substitute, but are getting hungry to see "Mr. Joe, the mail man," once more.

The meetings at the Chapel are still going on and Rev. Mr. Reed is assisted by Rev. Mr. Nicholson of Orono, Ill.

Mrs. Braner has received word that her brother, John Farmer of Sinclair is not expected to live through the day.

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union met Monday from 3 to 5 in special prayer service at Y. M. C. A. concerning the great national election. The meeting opened with a fervent prayer by Mrs. Blunt and others sent up petitions that God would be with us and hear us for the great need of the nation.

"Onward Christian Soldiers" was then sung with deep feeling for the needs of the Christian people.

Mrs. Scott introduced Mrs. Thos. Harber who sang a beautiful solo, "Oh, Savior Hear Me," by Gluck.

Miss Effie McLeod of the Women's college, who is a fine W. C. T. U. organizer, was then introduced and gave a fine address, taken from a part of Roman's 13 chapter, "Now is the time to wake out of sleep, for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed and to awake now to the peril of the liquor traffic."

Miss McLeod said she had not strayed to the white ribbon work, but had always known it the most beautiful tribute a daughter can give to mother.

She said in doing work as a W. C. T. U. worker it had meant a broader education and a closer touch with Christian people. The W. C. T. U. is a mother's club, and has done much for the public schools and hopes to do much more. The bow of white ribbon has meant much to many a mother's boy and turned his thoughts to home and mother.

"Blest Be the Tie that Binds" was sung and a closing prayer was offered. All went home with a desire to do greater work and looking forward to the day when women suffrage will be one great slogan of W. C. T. U. work.

Timothy Luby of Franklin was in the city yesterday on business.

YOUNGBLOOD PRAIRIE.

Coleman Dalton and family of Union Grove spent Sunday with Mr. Dalton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Green Dalton.

Mrs. C. S. Miskell and son Vernon of Murrayville visited Friday and Saturday with Mrs. Miskell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Green Dalton.

C. F. Story and Lewis Seymour will complete Mrs. Matilda Newby's house this week.

Thomas McLamar has just finished a large job of tiling on his farm. Several of the boys gave Mr. and Mrs. Campbell a hearty chaffin Saturday night.

J. P. Anderson is erecting a new building on his lot here and it will be occupied about Dec. 1 by his nephew, Roy Anderson, who is now in St. Louis learning the trade of a barber.

Several attended a musical at J. A. Morris' Tuesday evening.

Thomas Oxley sold a milch cow to Felix Ray this week.

Recent rains have made the ground so soft that corn husking will have to be deferred a few days.

C. E. Edwards baled and delivered his hay to Clemens this week.

Cold mornings make us think winter is coming early.

The teachers in our school have completed their second month and it is just to say they are giving excellent satisfaction. Miss Nellie O'Brien has charge of the advanced department and is advancing her pupils rapidly. Miss Jennie McCracken teaches the primary department with fine skill and some of her pupils are making rapid advancement. A literary society has been organized and great interest is shown in both rooms of the school and it is a great incentive to good work. All people are earnestly requested to visit the schools and especially enjoy the literary exercises.

STATE NEWS.

Harry D. Cooper of Elgin, Ill., has filed a claim against the city because, after he was arrested for running over a small boy with his motorcycle, the police neglected to take charge of the machine and it was stolen.

Too Poor to Buy.—Henry Freitag of Aurora, arrested on a charge of stealing a bottle of milk from a different neighbor, each morning, told the police he could not afford to buy milk for his family on a wage of $2 a day. His fine was paid by his employer.

But Revenge.—Because he refused to give a section hand a second dinner, Alex Thompson, cook's helper, of an Illinois Central construction crew, was shot in the arm by the cook.

He Surrendered.—John Jackson, accused of shooting Mrs. Mattie Robinson, and chased by Detective W. J. Halls of Danville with a fox hound, believing that blood hounds were on his trail, came to town and surrendered.

Tenants' Peace Is Disturbed.—Because his landlord, Gottfried Mueller, and son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Mueller, removed five doors and seven windows from his house in an effort to oust him, Albert Weaver, a coal miner in New Athens, filed suit in Magistrate Underwood's court at Belleville, charging the three with disturbing the peace. Peter ran afoul of the same warden's office and was haled into court to answer to a charge of poaching. It is said that he was robbing the streams and lakelets near Romeo of the best game fish by the wholesale use of seines. A fine of $200 was assessed against him, but was left uncollected. If it is learned that he goes fishing during the eighteen months the fine will be collected and he may be given a jail sentence in addition.

Business Man Slain at Home of Relative.—R. Meyers, 50 years old, a well-to-do baker, was found dead under mysterious circumstances in the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Martha Bickell, 9129 Commercial avenue, South Chicago. Meyers had been killed by a bullet which entered his skull back of his right ear, passed through his brain and came out on the left side of his head. He was found sitting upright on a lounge, his back resting against the wall. Eight feet away a revolver with one shell discharged, was found lying on a table. There were no powder marks around the wound. Meyers was found dead within an hour of the time set for his departure to Los Angeles, Cal., where his wife and daughter are staying.

luncheon was served after which act, act in the living present, heart within and God o'er head."—C. A.

"Now have I but their memory fondly cherished"—Miss Grace Patterson.

After the list of toasts, which were given in a spirited manner, sprinkled

HEALTH OF CHILD IN SCHOOL.

Do you eat breakfast every day?
Do you drink coffee or tea? Do you have your bedroom window open or shut at night? Do you own a toothbrush?

These and other pertinent questions are to be answered by the children in the public schools of Minnesota. They form a part of a "Health Grading Outline" prepared by Dr. Ernest B. Hoag, special director of school hygiene for the state, whereby teachers and school nurses may learn in the most direct manner possible the physical condition of the children entrusted to their care. "Rational conservation of the mental and physical health of our school children" is the ultimate ideal of this and other current health projects reported to the United States bureau of education.
The appointment of a special state director for school hygiene, and the institution of a searching but nontechnical health survey by teachers and school nurses, are important contributions to the school hygiene movement that is now steadily making its way throughout the country.

TO TRY LAST OF

HILLSVILLE OUTLAWS.
Wytheville, Va., Nov. 5.—The last of the trials growing out of the Hillsville court house tragedy of last March, when the Allen gang of outlaws shot down and killed six court attaches and spectators, are scheduled to begin here Thursday, when Sidney Allen and Wesley Edwards will be arraigned for trial before Judge Staples of Roanoke. The two were captured in Des Moines, Ia., some weeks ago, after a country-wide search. Edwards is to be tried first. Then will come the hearing of the case against Sidney Allen, who is regarded as the real leader of the gang. The prosecution entertains no doubt of the conviction of both, as the evidence against them is considered even stronger than against the others, two of whom have been sentenced to the electric chair and two others to long terms of imprisonment.

TITLES THAT APPEAR

IN THE WAR NEWS.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—An attaché of the Turkish embassy here offers the following information concerning Ottoman titles to aid American readers in digesting the news from the seat of war in the east. To begin with, it must be understood that all American prefixes, such as "Mr.," "General," "Governor," etc., become affixes in Turkey, the title following the name of the individual instead of preceding it.

A Caliph ranks next to the sultan, being a prince of the royal line, with the added distinction of being "Mahomet's representative."

Next, in the Turkish religion, comes Chek-Ul-Islam, or the head of the Mahometan faith.

Imam is the title by which a priest is commonly addressed.

Pasha is the highest title within the gift of the sultan. It is bestowed chiefly upon men who attain distinction in the arts of commerce.

The word "Bey" affixed to a Turkish surname signifies that the wearer is distinguished in the service of the state.

The term "Effendi" implies that the man so addressed is superior to the average man in birth, breeding and education, although not of the same high rank as a "Bey."

The Grand Vizier, or Sadorazam, is the premier of the cabinet and the highest of the government civil officials.

The governor of a province is addressed as Vali, while the mayor of a city affixes to his name Beledie Raisi.

WHEN LIFE IS DONE

Some Peoples Give Their Dead to Animals to Devour.

PECULIAR FUNERAL CUSTOMS

Among Many Races There Are Different Methods of Burial For Men and Women—Rites That Are Inspired by Fear of the Spirit of the Departed.

Strange indeed are many of the ceremonies attending the disposal of the dead in different parts of the world, and, following the natural order of things, the more primitive the nation the more primitive its methods. The rudest mode now prevalent is that of simply leaving the body exposed, but the ways of exposure vary considerably. Some wandering tribes act on the maxim, "Where the tree falls, there let it lie," and, leaving the dead behind, move their camp to pastures new. The Wanyamweisi, however, carry their dead into the forest to be devoured by beasts of prey, while some of the tribes of Guinea throw the corpse into the sea.

The Kamchadials keep dogs to consume their dead, under the strange impression that those who are devoured by dogs will be the masters of fine dogs in the world beyond. The Parsees, although a cultured nation, place their dead in a round tower, called a tower of silence, and the vultures who make such towers their habitation finish the work. In Dahomey it was stated that a person whose body has been struck by lightning is hocked to pieces and devoured by the priests.

Burial, of course, has many different forms, the simplest of which is perhaps the piling of stones or thorns over the body to keep off wild beasts. Some tribes bury their children by the roadside, so that their souls may enter into the bodies of the passerby. Burial in the earth is an earlier custom than that of cremation, embalming, or drying the body by suspending it from a tree, and many nations have more than one custom—for instance, merely burying their women, while the men are embalmed or dried.

An instance of several customs being in common use in one tribe is to be seen among the Katteks. They either expose, bury, burn, throw the body into the water, pile over it a heap of stones or build a hut over it, doing whatever the priest considers to be the most suitable. The position of the body also varies considerably, but as a general rule the head is laid either to the east or to the west. The Hongos, however, are an exception, for they bury the women with the face to the south, and the men with the face to the north.

"Among the primitive nations the expressions of grief at the loss of the deceased, grief not tinged with fear of him in his new state, and vent in self-inflicted tortures and other tremendously exaggerated expressions of woe. The inhabitants of New Zealand—the aborigines that is—behead themselves with pigment and wound themselves with broken shells. The Hawaiians go still further, knocking out their teeth and cutting off an ear or finger joint, while, when Hawaii was under the rule of monarchs, at the king's death the nation at large feigned madness through grief, and this was the signal for unbridled license of every description.

No nation is there, as a whole, which believes that the soul does not continue to exist after it leaves the body, and the origin of many funeral rites is the belief that death means the soul's transition from one state to another and that it is necessary to enter into the soul on the journey; hence it is that wives, servants, horses, money, weapons, musical instruments, meat and drink are among the things buried with the body. The Laplanders supply the corpse with flint, steel and tinder wherewith to obtain light by the way, and the Gonds even place tooth picks in the grave.

Rather a touching custom is prevalent among the Greenlanders, for on the death of a child they bury a dog with it to guide it, certain that a dog will find his way anywhere. The Russians have a custom of placing a paper passport in the hand of the deceased to be shown to Peter at the gate of heaven, while at one time in Wales "sin eaters" were employed, who by eating a loaf of bread over the dead body took upon themselves the burden of the deceased's sins.

It would seem that the fear of being haunted by the ghost of the departed has had no small effect upon many of the rites practiced for the Egyptians turn the body round and round so as to confuse the spirit's idea of direction, while the peasants of Brandenburg pour a pail of water after the corpse to prevent its return, and the aborigines of Australia remove the nails of the dead, so that they may not scratch their way out of the grave.—London Globe.

Queer Justice.

Prison Visitor: My friend, you ought not to complain. You are here to satisfy the demands of justice. Prisoner: Not much I am. For months my creditors kept urging me to raise money and when I raised a check they put me in jail. I'm blamed if I can see how you call that justice.

The weakest spot in every man is where he thinks himself the wisest.—Emmons.

MARK TWAIN IN UNIFORM.

Occasion When the Humorist Posed as General Sherman.

Albert Bigelow Paine in Harper's tells of the time when Mark Twain on his way to West Point to deliver an address found himself in the same train with General Sherman, who had been attending a dinner in Hartford.

"A pleasant incident followed, which Clemens himself used to relate. General Sherman attended the banquet and Secretary of War Robert Lincoln. Next morning Clemens and Twichell were leaving for West Point, where they were to address the military students, guests on the same special train on which Lincoln and Sherman had their private car. This car was at the end of the train, and when the two passengers reached the station Sherman and Lincoln were out on the rear platform addressing the multitude. Clemens and Twichell went in and, taking seats, waited for them.

"As the speakers finished the train started, but they still remained outside, bowing and waving to the assembled citizens, so that it was under good headway before they came in. Sherman came up to Clemens, who sat smoking unconcernedly.

"Well," he said, "who told you you could go in this car?"

"Nobody," said Clemens.

"Do you expect to pay extra fare?" asked Sherman.

"No," said Clemens; "I don't expect to pay any fare."

"Oh, you don't! Then you'll work your way."

"Sherman took off his coat and military hat and made Clemens put them on.

"Now," said he, "whenever the train stops you get out on the platform and represent me and make a speech."

"It was not long before the train stopped, and Clemens, according to orders, stepped out on the rear platform and bowed to the crowd. There was a cheer at the sight of his military uniform. Then the cheer waned, became a murmur of uncertainty, followed by an undertone of discussion. Presently somebody said:

"Say, that ain't Sherman; that's Mark Twain," which brought another cheer.

"Then Sherman had to come out, too, and the result was that both spoke. They kept this up at the different stations, and sometimes Robert Lincoln came out with them, and when there was time all three spoke, much to the satisfaction of their audiences."

MARIE ANTOINETTE.

Two Dramatic and Contrasting Episodes In Her Life.

Thistleton-Dyer, in his "Royalty In All Ages," describes two dramatic and tragically contrasted episodes in the life of Marie Antoinette, the lovely and ill-fated queen of France. Once, in the days of her greatest popularity, when she went to the opera of "Iphigenia," when Achilles came to the line "Let us sing and celebrate the queen," he turned toward the radiant young sovereign and sang two additional impromptu lines of charming compliment. This graceful and unexpected homage so delighted the audience that "all was shouting and clapping of hands; and what never happened at the opera before—the chorus was eucored, and there were cries of 'Long live the queen!' at which expression of feeling her majesty was so affected that she shed tears."

On the next occasion, when Marie Antoinette's sun of popular favor had set and she was nearing the tragic close of her life, one of the actresses in "Unforeseen Events" bowed to her as she sang the words, "Ah, how I love my mistress!" In a moment all was in uproar, and the theater was full of hoarse, angry cries of "No mistress! No master! Liberty!" and "No master! No queen!" and it was some minutes before the tumult quieted down and it was possible to proceed with the play.

Keeping Peace at Home.

How do they do it—the couples who win the Dumfries flitches by going a whole year without a quarrel? Tact undoubtedly plays a part. One recalls the simple system of a Sussex couple to keep peace at home. When the wife came in a little ruffled she flung her shawl over her left shoulder, and the husband knew that silence was golden. If he came home with hat cocked for ward the wife knew that something was wrong, and she likewise lay low. It's the simplest fact that keeps the peace at home, where you may never be at a loss for the quarrel you took for.—London Chronicle.

"It Suits to a T."

The clause "It suits to a T," meaning it fits exactly, is as old as the familiar instrument, the T square or T rule (so called from its resemblance to the letter T, used by mechanics and draftsmen for making angles true and for obtaining perpendiculars. The expression was in common use in the time of Dr. Johnson, who is quoted by Boswell as saying of Wharlington, "You see they'd have fitted him to a T."

Why She Couldn't.

"No, I didn't have a very good time," she said. "I wanted to talk, and there wasn't a man there."

"But there were plenty of other girls."

"Oh, of course, but that was no satisfaction, for they all wanted to talk too."

Rightly Named.

How! Why do you call this your grill room? Jo-Whit. This is where my wife corners me when I get in late at night.—New York Globe.

THE FAVORITE NOW.

Campfire Costume Popular For Indoor Wear.

FROCK OF BROWN SERGE.

More popular this winter than the former favorite, the middie suit, is the campfire girl costume which is being worn indoors. This costume includes a trimly belted short skirt with big pockets. It is very natty when developed in brown serge, touched up with collar and cuffs of tan cloth or suede leather.

The Making of Cords.

Now that fancy cords are so much used, why not make your own for less than half the store price? The number of threads needed depends on the thickness of the cord desired. For example, with a short bit will illustrate this. For a four strand cord measure little more than four times the length desired. Double once, then stand at one end of the room facing an assistant at the opposite end and let both twist the thread away from you in opposite directions. Now catch the cord in the center, join the ends evenly and release the center, which will allow it to curl itself into the finished cord, only smoothing occasionally to prevent kinks. If the thread is very fine or an unusually heavy cord is desired the process may be repeated, twisting the twisted threads, doubling again and allowing the cord to adjust itself. Fasten raw ends with a self knot and there will be no unraveling.

How Do You Like the Pannier?

Particularly graceful and pretty is this little gown of taupe charmeuse.

GOWN OF TAUPE CHARMEUSE.

which has a panner title over a plaid skirt and a wide collar of thicker net.

The skirt shows just the tip of a dainty patent leather boot with a but toned top of taupe suede.

Turkish Toweling.

The new Turkish toweling has among its possibilities developed an aptitude for the making of children's coats; it is quite inexpensive, and it is not now regarded as possessing these qualities but there is much approval given to cords of taffeta finished by scalloped cape-like collars of the silk or made with a plain yoke and worn with a lawn collar.

The Fuel Supply Needs Attention Only Three Times Each Day

The makers of Cole's Hot Blast Heater guarantee this stove to hold fire with soft coal 36 hours without attention. Your old stove and imitation stoves leak air and waste fuel because they are not air-tight, because they have putty joints.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

—by means of the patented Hot Blast Draft and other patented features which make it tight, doing away with the use of stove putty—requires less attention than any other heater made.

All fuel—Soft Coal, Hard Coal, Lignite, Wood or Corn Cobs—contains a large amount of gas. Fully one-half of the heating power (carbon) in soft coal is gas. This is the part of the fuel this wonderful heater saves, by burning it with the Top Hot Blast Draft. This makes Cole's Hot Blast Heater the most satisfactory, the most economical, the most convenient heater you can buy. Imitations and other styles of stoves allow this gas-half of the coal to pass up the chimney with the smoke, unburned.

Thousands of these stoves are in use and the sale continues to increase year after year.

This heater will give you more comfort than you ever thought possible by using any kind of a stove which uses soft coal for fuel.

Right now is the time to decide and select the size you should have. Come in and see complete line of styles and sizes.

DR. MILLIGAN AT HIGH SCHOOL.

Dr. Josephine Milligan, class of '79 of the high school, addressed the students Tuesday morning on "Women in Medicine and Nursing."

In this state the registered nurse must meet certain necessary requirements. She must be between 18 and 35 years of age and must have completed at least one year of high school work.

Doubtless a diploma from a standard high school will soon be required. Candidates must serve a probationary period of three months.

Those who successfully pass this period receive for the first year $7 per month and living, and for the second, $10 per month, and the third year, $15 per month. Perhaps no other profession pays the candidates a salary while they are taking their preparatory work.

Nurses must possess mental poise and physical strength in order to undergo the strain incidental to the care of severe cases. They must also possess, to a marked degree, patience, tact and kindness of heart.

Successful nurses are always sure of a living and make from $25 to $35 per week. Many secure salaried positions paying from five to eight hundred dollars and living per year. Occasionally a head nurse receives as high as two to three thousand dollars per year.

The work is most interesting, but no woman should undertake it unless she feels that she would like to do it.

The woman doctor requires the same physical and mental qualities and in addition a much broader scholarship. She must have at least a college education, a four years' course in medicine and a year of hospital practice if she hopes to succeed. Aside from the financial reward the practice of medicine brings a satisfaction which comes from the accomplishment of real good in the world.

SILHOUETTE FAD.

Even In Furniture Black and White Effects Are Smart.

The attractive and dainty black and white silhouette decoration now becoming popular here had its inspiration in Europe, where it became a widespread fad. By some it is held to be a development of the black and white decoration vogue, which the Hoffman school created; by others to be a revival of Biedermeier style, and it must be admitted that this last influence is most marked. Some of the screens are essentially in Biedermeier style, combining characters in profile with natural history subjects or with the purely fantastic most admirably.

The decoration consists of steel-like black or black and white figures on a white background. The figures are clearly and sharply cut, standing out distinctly in the strong contrast of the dead black and white give the effect that is most dainty. Very decorative variations are obtained by the use of colors—soft dark greens, blues, crimsons, maroons, grays or browns. These are used on white backgrounds in two tones of the same color or with contrasting colors, giving unlimited possibilities to silhouette work even in the hands of the amateur decorator. In fact, home talent is often employed in this art, and possibly this fact is not a little responsible for its increasing popularity. The personal touch is given at times by putting the profiles of members of the family, of certain known individuals or of historic characters on some of the figures. Favorite fairy stories, sports and nursery tales are used in decorating the nursery. One's favorite pastime—golf, riding, fishing, whatever it may be—can be artistically incorporated into the silhouette frieze for one's pet room.

While in America the fashion has thus far been confined to wall, picture, curtain and screen decoration. A form of furniture is promised in the near future in black and in natural maple paneled with silhouette decorations.

Just Too Dear For Anything.

A story is told concerning a famous man of letters who visited Washington and appeared at a dinner party. He sat next to a young girl, who rattled away at the famous man. He wanted to talk to his hostess, but hadn't a chance. The girl said to him: "I'm awfully stuck on Shakespeare. Don't you think he's terribly interesting?"

Everybody listened to hear the great man's brilliant reply, for as a Shakespearean scholar he has few peers. "Yes," he said solemnly, "I do think he is interesting. I think he is more than that. I think Shakespeare is just simply too dear for anything."

Big Sisters in New York.

Mrs. Madeline W. Evans, a thoroughly experienced court inspector, has been engaged by the Big Sister organization in New York, founded by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt. Mrs. Willard Straight, who was Miss Dorothy Whitney before her marriage, is very much interested with Mrs. Vanderbilt in the movement.

Evans knows all about the girls helped and finds places for them.

Thirty-third Degree For Women.

For many years the privileges and secrets of Freemasonry have been denied to women. Now, however, several members of the thirty-third, and highest, degree of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite have obtained charters from the highest authorities in England and Germany to initiate women.

The Puma and Its Names.

The large American cat known as the puma is very rich in names, which fact leads to no little confusion in the minds of young students of natural history. The early Puritan settlers in New England named the animal the panther, meaning, of course, panther, because in shape and size it strongly resembles this fierce carnivore of the old world. It also received the name catamount, which was shortened down from cat of the mountain. The reddish color of the fur of some of the specimens suggested the name red tiger, while in certain places it was given the more majestic name of mountain lion. In South America one of the native names was cuguacura, but we have very sensibly knocked off four of the six syllables and shortened it to cougar. The puma has such a wide range, being found from Canada to Patagonia, that naturally enough it receives a different name in the various countries and localities which it inhabits. Six names for one animal! No wonder readers of books of travel get confused.

A more disagreeable object than a scorpion of Ceylon it would be difficult to imagine. Although, as a rule, it does not measure more than seven inches in length, there is a species found in the woods that are longer than a foot. They crawl out of some dried wood and, taking up their position on a convenient rock or stone, look, as they hold their great jointed sting curved over their backs and their claws held aloft, the very picture of aggressive warfare. Here they stretch themselves in the broiling sun and await their prey. These are the small, beautiful honeybirds that dart from flower to flower and take the place of the humming birds of the east. As one approaches the scorpion seems to shrink into the stone until it becomes almost imperceptible. Suddenly the great insect will raise its claws and dart at its beautiful victim, which in a moment is destroyed.

At a debating society some time ago the Irish question was discussed. An English doctor was sustaining the argument that the Irish were naturally a race with right sentiments, but poorly developed. At Liverpool, he said, he had 300 Irish patients on his books and of these only thirty paid him for attendance.

"Sorr," said an Irishman, who rose with flushed cheek to defend his countrymen—"sorr, there is never an effect without a cause. There is never a phenomenon that does not admit of an explanation. How can we explain the astounding phenomenon to which the doctor has called our attention? He finds an explanation in the natural depravity of the Irish nature. I, sorr, have another explanation to give, and it is this—the thirty patients recovered!"—Pearson's Weekly.

Curious Night Wells.

A curious form of water hole is found in the desert of Western Australia, dry by day, but yielding an abundant supply of water by night. The flow of water is preceded by hissing and sounds of rushing air. The phenomenon is discussed by Dr. Malcolm MacLaren, who has located and examined one of these wells. He found that the water supply occurred in a long, narrow trench, at the bottom of which was a thin plate of gneiss, separated by a cavity from the main rock mass beneath. Apparently the heat of the day causes this plate to expand in the form of a depression, into which the water retreats. When it cools and contracts at night it forces first air and then water back into the trench.—Scientific American.

Her Fighting Clothes.

A certain matron alludes to a certain gown of hers as her "quarrel dress."

"I always wear it," she explains, "when I have had a quarrel with my husband."

"But why do you call it a quarrel dress?"

"Because it is the only gown I have that doesn't button in the back. Consequently I don't have to call on the old grouch to help me!"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Usual Kind.

On Jimmie's birthday his uncle gave him a knife. His mother told him he ought to give his uncle a penny so that it would not cut their friendship.

"Oh, well," rejoined Jimmie, "it won't cut anything else, so I guess it won't cut our friendship!"—Chicago News.

Never Had a Chance.

"Why have you never run for office?" asked the reporter.

"Well," said the wealthy citizen, "when I was younger I was too poor to make a campaign; now that I am rich I don't dare to!"—Detroit Free Press.

A Mean Question.

Wedding—Today is the tenth anniversary of my marriage. Singleton—Well, what do you expect? Wedding—Which do I expect? Singleton—Yes; congratulations or sympathy?

Hopeless.

"Tom has proposed and asks me to give him his answer in a letter."

"Shall you do it?"

"No. I will be more liberal and give him his answer in two letters."

Good Beginning.

Mrs. Eke—Is Mrs. Youngbride a good housekeeper? Mrs. Wye—Well, when I dropped in on her she was trying to make bread in a chafing dish.—Boston Transcript.

The Best Treatment for Itching Scalps, Dandruff and Falling Hair

To allay itching and irritation of the scalp, prevent dry, thin and falling hair, remove crusts, scales and dandruff, and promote the growth and beauty of the hair, the following special treatment is most effective, agreeable and economical. On retiring, comb the hair out straight all around, then begin at the side and make a parting, gently rubbing Cuticura ointment into the parting with a bit of soft flannel held over the end of the finger. Anoint additional partings about half an inch apart until the whole scalp has been treated, the purpose being to get the Cuticura ointment on the scalp skin rather than on the hair. The next morning, shampoo with Cuticura soap and hot water. Shampoos alone may be used as often as agreeable, but once or twice a month is generally sufficient for this special treatment for women's hair. Cuticura soap and ointment sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free with 32-p. Skin Book. Address "Cuticura," Dept. 3, Boston.

For tender-faced men shave in comfort with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

Pretty Mothers

Health is the foundation of all good looks. The wise woman realizes this and takes precautions to preserve her health and strength through the period of child bearing. She remains a pretty mother by avoiding as far as possible the suffering and dangers of such occasions. This every woman may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been so long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is in no sense an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for external application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. The Beginning of Illinois

Mrs. Jessie Palmer Webber.

At a recent meeting of Rev. James Caldwell Chapter, D. A. R., Mrs. Jessie Palmer Webber of Springfield presented a very valuable and interesting paper. The Journal presents herewith the first installment of the paper and the second installment will appear at a later date.

"The springs of American civilization unlike those of the elder world lie revealed in the clear light of history," says Parkman, and it is true that we can easily trace step by step the forces in world history, the rivalries and the wars, which led to the discovery, conquest, settlement and development of our own land without delving into the mists of superstition or supposition as we study the history of the old world quarrels which settled our destiny. Toward the close of the fifteenth century Spain, by the fortunate marriage of Ferdinand and Isabella had united the royal houses of Castile and Aragon, had been triumphant in her religious wars with the Moors, and had accomplished a still greater achievement in the discovery by Christopher Columbus of our western world. These wonderful things made Spain the foremost nation of the world, but the Spanish were discoverers and adventurers rather than colonizers and settlers, though their maps and charts, as well as their tales of adventure were of great advantage to those who came afterward. Spain and other European countries were induced to attempt western discoveries in the hope of finding the northwest passage to the Orient for trade purposes, since the growth of Turkish power had made the eastern route more, and more precarious.

This hope of finding the northwest passage was cherished for many years and was the reason for many voyages, until the advantages and attractions of the new world on its own account made America a bone of contention among the nations of Europe. Such settlements as Spain made were in the islands and in Mexico and the southwest, from whence early voyages perhaps touched the gulf coast, and Ponce de Leon visited Florida, but probably the first party of white adventurers to travel from the southern mainland of the territory now embraced in the United States, penetrate the interior, and cross the Mississippi river, was that of the Spaniard, Ferdinand de Soto, who crossed the great river in 1541, one hundred and thirty-two years before its discovery by Marquette in 1673, and for more than a century Spain claimed America by right of these discoveries. From that time forward the greater countries of Europe all sought to possess America. Spain sailed over land and sea seeking glory and adventure. Italy, Portugal and Holland made explorations, England sought gold and territorial expansion, and France sought all this and more. She desired to plant colonies, to propagate the gospel, to save the souls of the Indians and to trade in furs and other commodities, and these plans of France were led by such illustrious spirits as Champlain, Frontenac, Talon, Cartier, Roberval, and many others, carrying the illies of France on their banners, and always accompanied by priests, the black gowns of the Jesuits or the gray gowns of the Recollets, all zealous for the glory of God and the honor and aggrandizement of La Belle France.

To go into details at all would weary you that I can not even enumerate happenings of the gravest importance, and I will but faintly outline from the tales of wars, and political intrigue, some of the events that brought Illinois into the world.

"Though other nations made claim to the great territory which is now known as the Mississippi valley, it was the French who actually explored, possessed and settled it. Champlain was the first writer who mentioned Illinois, and though he never visited it, he sent Jean Nicolet in 1643 to the Green Bay country. He was the first white man to thus far penetrate the northwestern wilderness. Perhaps he did not actually visit the land now called the state of Illinois, but was in the territory which is now Wisconsin. Then followed the Illinois Indians and tales were told of their wonderful fertile land, and the intelligence and docility of the native tribes. The King of France, Louis XIV, and his ministers and Canadian governors all dreamed of, and hoped and planned for a great French empire in America. We know so well of the voyage of the saintly Marquette and the sturdy Joliet, how they in 1673 became the recorded discoverers of the great river, and you remember that Marquette named the Mississippi river, which he discovered, the conception in honor of the Blessed Virgin Immaculate, under whose care and patronage the voyage was made. The first mission founded in Illinois was also named the Immaculate Conception by Marquette in fulfillment of a vow he had made. Marquette wrote a narrative of his voyage and his reception by the Illinois tribes, and gave a glowing description of the wonderful country.

The voyagers told of the beauty of the country, speaking of the white pelicans which they said seemed to have been created solely to lend beauty to the scenery, and of the fishes in the river and the wild fruits on its banks, and they said as they descended the river the banks grew more rugged with high cliffs. Says Marquette "as we coasted along the rocks, frightful for their height and length, we saw two monsters painted on these rocks which startled us at first, and on which the boldest Indians dare not gaze long. They are as large as a calf, with horns on the head like a deer, a fearful look, red eyes, bearded like a tiger, the face somewhat like a man's, the body covered with scales and the tail so long that it twice makes the turn of the body, passing over the head, and down between the legs and ending at last in a fish's tail. Green, red, and a kind of black, are the colors employed. On the whole these two monsters are so well painted that we could not believe any Indian to have been the designer, as good painters in France would find it hard to do as well besides this, they are so high upon the rock that it is hard to get conveniently at them to paint them." These terrible objects are the Plasa birds, which were painted upon the rocks near the junction of the Illinois and Mississippi rivers, the location of which is well known to you all. These were Indian demons, evil Manitous. When we consider that these historic paintings were blasted out of the rocks and the stone used for commercial purposes, like that of the palisades of the Hudson river does it not seem that we need some sort of state control of historical spots? Col. Jonathan Miles described the paintings which as a boy he had often seen and from his description the artist made a drawing of the Plasa, but I must confess the drawing just mentioned is not very terrifying. We have it in the Historical Library. Col. Buckmaster of Alton also saw the paintings, and the picture drawn from his description is a more satisfactory demon than is the one previously mentioned. This last picture is used as the accepted reproduction of the Plasa.

After Marquette and Joliet, followed the discoveries and adventures of Rene Robert Cavalier, the Sieur de LaSalle of whom Parkman has said:

"He was as brave as the bravest
"As pure as the purest,
"And as unfortunate as the most unfortunate."

The tale of his bravery and his fortitude, and the romantic story of his devoted lieutenant, Henry de Tonty, the man with the iron hand, for he had a hand shot off in the wars in Sicily, and had an artificial hand made of metal, which greatly mystified the Indians, who found that a blow from the "iron hand" might be a serious matter, all these are full of charm and romantic interest, and are well known to you; so it suffices to say that LaSalle explored the great river to its mouth and took possession of it with great ceremony, in the name of Louis the Grand King of France and of Navarre, and in his honor named the land Louisiana. Upon these discoveries the claims of France were founded, and the country was settled and controlled by her for a century, and until she ceded it to Great Britain after the battle of the Plains of Abraham and the treaty of Paris in 1763.

LaSalle's little Fort Creve Coeur, the Broken Heart, was erected near the site of the present city of Peoria in 1680, thus making settlement in this part of the state earlier than that of Kaskaskia or Cahokia, and Parkman says it was the first civilized settlement in the territory now known as Illinois. And says Governor Reynolds, though it was but a missionary and trading station yet missionaries and traders must be supported and it was of great importance to the church and the priests. The fort itself was but a wooden stockade and short-lived, but even today it speaks to us from the past, and attempts are being now made to definitely settle at this late date its exact location. The D. A. R. chapter at Peoria are working upon this, and one of the best accounts of the old fort and its location was written by a member of the Peoria chapter, Mrs. Ada Greenwood McLaughlin.

The treaty of Ryswick, in April, 1697, closing the Palatinate war, left France in possession of the two great valleys in North America, and in 1700 Illinois had two permanent white settlements, one at Cahokia, still very active as our present city of East St. Louis, which passed Springfield in the census of 1910, but she really had quite a start of us as it was founded as Cahokia in 1699; then Kaskaskia in 1700, which was that year moved to that situation on account of Indian incursions from its first location on the Illinois river where under the name of Kaskaskia, it was founded by Marquette, near the present city of Union, Illinois, not far from Starved Rock. LaSalle, the great village of the Illinois Indians, was situated near Starved Rock, and Father Menabrea states that in 1680 it had a population of seven or eight thousand souls, but it was constantly harassed by the Iroquois tribes and so they were driven from LaSalle and after a time they decided to cast their fortunes with other tribes, and thus the Illinois were scattered and their strength divided. In 1769 they were attacked by tribes who blamed the Illinois with the murder of the great Indian Pontiac, who had been assassinated, not killed in fair battle, and the Illinois, being hard pressed, betook themselves to the summit of the Rock where they thought they would be safe. There they remained for twelve days, and the enemy cut off their water supply and their food gave out, so they decided to make a sortie and try to escape, but their plans were discovered and they were massacred by their enemies. This of course was years after the foundation of Tonty's Fort St. Louis of the Rock. I recently visited this beautiful spot and from the Rock viewed a wonderful panorama of field, and town, and river, and I thrilled with pride that the state of Illinois has purchased this truly historic place, and made it a park free to our people.

It is hard for us to realize that this settled country which seems to us so old and permanent has been in a very short time in the light of history owned by the red man, claimed by Spain, occupied by France and conquered by England, and again by the American colonies. After its discovery by Marquette and LaSalle, the French pushed in and made friends with the Indians, and in 1715, after fifteen years after the settlement of Cahokia and Kaskaskia, Father Mermet reported to the governor of Canada that England was pushing westward from her Atlantic colonies and building forts along the way. In that year Louis XIV died. The war of the Spanish Succession, 1702-1713, known in America as "Queen Anne's War," had greatly impoverished France, but it made her more anxious to retrieve her treasury and credit through her possessions in America. The reports and letters in the English and French Colonial Archives report continual bickerings, jealousies, quarrels and encroachments in America between the French and English. In 1712 the French crown granted to Antoine Crozat, for twelve years a monopoly of all the trade of Louisiana, mining, land-grants and slavery.

Louisiana, according to the grant made to Crozat, "extended from New Mexico to the lands of the English of Carolina, embraced the rivers Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio and Wabash, to run from the edge of the sea as far as the Illinois," and Illinois then probably extended to the mouth of the Wisconsin river. Crozat opened lead mines, and attempted trade, but his great venture was a failure, and his grant was surrendered back to the crown in 1717. Then it was that John Law's company of the west came upon the scene and created a furor in England, France and America, and the French crown sent Boisbriant as governor of the Illinois, who in unison with John Law's company of the west, built Fort de Chartres which was to be a stronghold against both Spain and England. John Law, says Winsor, stands in European history as the creator of one of the most marvelous crazes ever known. He was a Scotchman, and he fled from Scotland to Amsterdam to avoid arrest. He studied the banking system of Amsterdam and he conceived a scheme for floating paper money and tried to introduce it into Scotland but failed, and then he lived for a time a life of dissipation, until he opened a private bank in Paris. The Company of the West was chartered in 1717, its capital stock was fixed at one hundred million livres. This scheme was expected to restore the shattered fortunes of France. John Law, who had attracted the attention of the Duke of Orleans, Regent of France, was given control of it. Law's bank had about a year and a half before that time been opened in Paris as a private bank of issue and had received governmental favors. Law's flattering tongue, handsome person and agreeable manners secured for him entire control of her finances. Whatever of evil Law's company caused in the financial world of Europe, it did much good for Louisiana, as every inducement, such as concessions of land, etc., was made to actual settlers in America, especially on the Mississippi river. The company brought settlers from France, Germany, the Alsatian province and also negroes from San Domingo.

The story of Law's life is a thrilling romance. How he rose to loftiest heights in financial Europe, his dazzling success and his fall and flight, are told most entertainingly by Mr. Emerson Hough in a novel entitled "The Mississippi Bubble," in which he describes the Illinois country and claims that Law actually lived on the banks of the Mississippi river for a year.

In 1718 Pierre Duque Boisbriant, a French officer, with a party of soldiers and artisans was, as I have already said, sent to the Illinois to build Fort Chartres, named in honor of the Duc de Chartres, son of the regent. The Priest Poisson, who writes of the trip, says of Boisbriant's party, that on account of mosquitoes on the river, there was more swearing done by that party than had occurred in all the world before. The first Fort Chartres was a wooden fortress but the second was a wonderful fortress built of stone at a great cost. It is said to have been the greatest fort ever built by France in North America; it was situated about eighteen miles north of Kaskaskia. The stone fort was built by the Chevalier de Makarty under the supervision of a French officer of engineers, Capt. Jean B. Saucier, in 1753, and it cost a million dollars, the enormous expenditure of money for a frontier fortress. Captain Saucier was the ancestor of Dr. J. F. Snyder, formerly the president of the State Historical society. There now remains of the fort only a powder magazine which is in a fair state of preservation. An act carrying an appropriation for the purchase of the site of Fort Chartres was passed by the last session of the state legislature but the governor was obliged to veto it because of the faulty and unconstitutional manner in which the bill was drawn.

One of the first important arrivals at Fort de Chartres around which a number of French villages sprung up, was Phillip Francois Renault, who had been a banker in Paris. He brought with him two hundred and fifty miners and soldiers and a large number of slaves from San Domingo, the first African slaves on FREE!! To every person that solves the above puzzle, the piano manufacturers who control and are distributing this advertising appropriation, will give absolutely free, the choice of the following valuable premiums: Large piece of beautiful pressed cut glass, set of royal plate guaranteed silver spoons, set of gentlemen's gold-filled and pearl cuff buttons, tie pin and tie holder or pocketbook, also a bonafide manufacturers' credit voucher for $117.50 good only on any new pian in our store. For many years piano manufacturers and dealers have tried to reduce the selling expense of pianos, the old way of paying solicitors, paying music teachers' commissions and engaging great artists to play their pianos at fabulous sums are being eliminated, and now it is the question of the best advertised piano, and one in which the purchasers are given the greatest possible value. This is the age of co-operation and the manufacturers correctly believe that the best way to market and introduce their product is to spend the advertising money in making special offers to the people rather than employing world-famous demonstrators at fabulous expense and making the people pay for such methods by asking a heavily inflated price for the piano.
